

WITHOUT WHOSE LABOR...

You work hard the long days of life, you with the hands showing the years of your toil. You raise your arms and buildings follow, you swing your hands and mountains fall. Your eyes look across a span of water and soon a bridge follows.

You sweat and it soaks into every part of our nation, for it is the effort you give which makes life easier for your fellow-man. A million jobs done each day testify you are not unnoticed.

Behind a badge or carrying concrete, you are the face of your neighbor or the person down the street. You can be angry or happy; determined or indifferent; curious or content, but you are recognized.

You come in all shapes and sizes with backgrounds as diverse as your imaginations. With it is accomplished the highest expectations of our dreams; without it we only topple and fall to a sorrowful end too quickly felt.

You are the working force, the person whose voice and muscle and mind and heart give to each of us not only the necessities but the luxuries of life. To you we can only say "Thanks!" for all you are and all you shall be throughout our days.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. AND MRS. TOM PARRIS

The wedding of Miss Janice Tate, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Orlan Tate and Tommy Parris, son of Mrs. Lee Parris and the late Mr. Parris of Hope was solemnized on Tuesday, August 15, in the Calvary Baptist Church. The double ring service was read at seven o'clock in the evening by the bride's father in the presence of relatives and friends.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Jennie Richardson, pianist, who also accompanied Mrs. David Williams as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" was sung as the benediction as the couple knelt at the altar. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Candlelighter was Miss Frankie Lou Davis of Harrell. Vows were exchanged at the altar before a setting of a bridal arch entwined with boxwood greenery and the white satin-covered prie dieu flanked with floor baskets of white gladioli tied with greenery and white satin bows. White burning tapers in seven-branched floor candelabra, festooned with greenery and bows, illumined the scene. The family pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Louis Gene Tate, was radiantly lovely in her wedding gown of peacock blue. The bodice was enhanced with a scooped neckline and long fitted sleeves finished in petal points over the hands. The neckline and hemline of the controlled skirt were embellished with lace motifs and her Chapel train was attached at the back waistline. Her elbow-length veil of illusion flowed from a cluster of fabric roses and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and ivory centered with a white orchid with white satin streamers tied in lovers knots.

Mrs. Barbara Cann was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a yellow peau de sole Empire floor-length gown and matching pillbox with overlays of tulle. She carried a Crescent bouquet of yellow gladioli with yellow satin streamers.

Olen Parris of Hope, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Stan Parris and Tommy Joe McKee of Hope. Mrs. Tate, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece frock of beige and navy crepe with beige accessories. Mrs. Parris mother of the bridegroom, chose a turquoise linen suit with matching accessories. Both pinned at their shoulders gladioli corsages.

Following the ceremony, the couple received their guests in the foyer of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Parris will make their home in Jacksonville, Florida, where he will be attending a Naval School.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Frank Davis, Mrs. Laron Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Rogers of Harrell; Mrs. Olen Parris, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cox and Aubrey Cox of Hope; Mrs. Dennis Gibson and Miss Janelle Gibson of Jonesboro and Miss Judy Burkhardt of Nashville.

Dear Helen: Four of us have started a band and we practice in my garage. We are looking for name. I have to admit we aren't very good yet, but we're plenty loud. Any suggestions?—THE NAMELESS FOUR

Dear Helen: "The Nameless Four" sounds fine to me, though I'll bet the neighbors call you "The Suburban Blight."—H.

Dear Helen: I got my first traffic ticket the other day... for speeding. They nicked me 35 bones. My Dad was stopped yesterday on the same highway. He was going a little faster than I was. And they just gave him a warning. Is that fair?—JIM, AGE 16

Dear Jim: Not really, but then the Judge knows statistics on teen male drivers. He may figure, "Spare the fine and spoil the boy."—H.

HELEN HENNESSY'S BOUTIQUE

NEW YORK — (NEA) — It isn't easy for a young designer to crack the fashion magazines. And it's quite a trick to get recognition from that formidable, so-called fashion trade journal that speaks a language all its own and bestows such obvious titles on rich and famous women as "The Young Fashionables."

So every time a young unknown makes this "big time" of fashion, one wonders just what he had in common with the few others who pulled it off. What makes them different from other talented hopefuls who simply stay in fashion's limbo?

Take Vince Pasacane. And don't say you won't. Because his designs will be peeping out at you from the pages of the leading fashion magazines for fall and they will be in the leading stores across the country. So you'll take Vince Pasacane. At least you will take a look.

Vince just two years ago graduated from New York's Parsons School of Design. Since then he has been designing dresses and sportswear.

He did a summer knitwear line in Europe and, lo and behold, it was publicized in Women's Wear Daily, that above-mentioned trade paper.

"I believe in the total look," said the young designer. And he believes in it so totally, mind you, that he designs not only clothes but the shoes and jewelry to go with them.

"Clothes have become simpler, more architectural," Vince believes.

"The modern woman plays an equal part in the home and in the business world. Her clothes must be functional, yet individual.

"She leads an active, young life. Therefore, she must have humor in her clothes."

And right there I knew what the young designers who made it all had in common—those who got the nod from the literary mentors of fashion. From Courreges to Gerreigh to Pasacane—the key word was "humor." Why we have to dress funny to be with it these days I haven't figured out. What's going on in the world today hardly seems amusing.

But right down to your huge, tinsel-weight silver earrings, you had better have a sense of humor or you may as well stay at home in your robe and slippers.

A knowledge of architecture doesn't hurt, either, if a young designer wants to get ahead. Courreges cashed in on that one. And now Vince Pasacane is off and running. I'm sure some new joke book will have the answer to "Why is a woman like a building?" And no matter your age, don't forget that you have to look YOUNG. If you're over 25, you'd better not look it.

Vince believes that a woman needs naturalness and individuality in her clothes.

"She" (that's singular for US), he said, "is freed socially and wants to express this freedom in her clothes." Good for us! It's time we made it clear that the Suffragettes triumphed.

His jewelry, done in silver and gold plastic sheeting, takes on imaginative forms. Tubes, sculptured into precise shapes, form bracelets, earrings and huge rings that could go through the mail in dozen lots for a five-cent stamp. They weigh so little.

And seriously, if you have the ability to wear them with aplomb, they are amusing. Anyway, Vince Pasacane's ideas on fashion will be much in evidence for fall—from dresses and suits to shoes, boots and jewelry—all full of fun.

THOUGHTS

But we pray God that you may not do wrong—not that we may appear to have met the test, but that you may do what is right, though we may seem to have failed.—1 Cor. 13:7.

The quitter gives the match away, past all denying; I think it far better to stay and fail by trying.—Edgar Guest, American poet.

"And I will make them and the places round about my hill a blessing; and I will send down the showers in their season; they shall be showers of blessing."—Ezekiel 34:26.

JERSEY TUNIC (left) in Orlon double knit has wide belt at hip with pocket insert set into the garment. Over-the-knee boots in stretch nylon are set on a two-toned platform. Linen safari suit (right) has long jacket and shirt and melon-orange Orlon double knit overblouse belted in patent leather. The sculptured-look shoe is low-heeled and done in patent leather. These fashions for today's active woman are by a new young designer, Vince Pasacane, who is becoming someone to be reckoned with on the fashion scene.

Joan Crosby's TV Notebook

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Television has done something for Herb Alpert that the domestic sale of 21 million records could not do. Television has made his face as recognizable as his music.

Herb, a handsome, shy man who, according to those who know him well, lives and breathes music, was the most looked-at man in America when his first special was telecast last April.

"Up to that time, I wasn't recognized on the streets. After the show, cabbies were yelling at me in New York," he said.

He was talking in his plush Hollywood office, where seven gold records hang on the wall. "I have eight more over there," he said, pointing to some cartons in the corner. "But I don't know what to do with them."

His next television appearance will be on NBC-TV on Sept. 13 when he is host for the premiere show in the new Kraft Music Hall series. This will be followed on Nov. 24 by a repeat of his highly acclaimed special.

Herb is excited about the Kraft show, "which is completely different from the special and exciting in its own way. We did one number with a full brass orchestra, 25 men. Would you like to hear it?"

He played it on his stereo set, and it was an exciting foot-tapping version of tunes from Carmen with a touch of "Spanish Flea." It will be included in his next A & M album, set for October release.

Louis Armstrong is a guest on the show, and he and Herb take turns playing in each other's style. Jackie Vernon, another guest, tries to play "Spanish Flea" on the trumpet. "I think he hit three notes right," Herb laughed.

The Alpert and the Tijuana Brass phenomenon, which by this time could have begun tapering off, instead is hotter than ever. Despite a rash of imitators ("We have supplied a lot of work for people," he smiles), HA and the TJB are stronger than ever. Does he ever feel the musical ideas are running out?

"Every now and then I have the feeling I'm reaching

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dennis Weaver, with one hit and some misses behind him, is returning to television this season, playing a husband and father in an early evening CBS series whose title role is enacted by a large, black bear.

"Gentle Ben," however, is promised as an adventure series with a difference. Even though it comes off the production lines of Ivan Tors, who gave us Judy, the chimp; Clarence, the cross-eyed lion of "Daktari," and Flipper, the superdolphin, Weaver insists that Ben, 650 pounds of tractability and friendliness, will be treated in the scripts as a family pet, unendowed with human sensitivities.

"No one in this series," said Weaver, "will ever get into a mess and say, 'I'm hurt, Ben, go get dad.'"

"Gentle Ben" follows "Lastie" on the network's Sunday evening schedule—and Lassie has been getting dad, the rangers or—most often—doing the rescuing herself, for 13 years without a goof. The two shows should provide an interesting

Weaver made an indelible impression on television audiences. Marshall Dillon's limping, drawing, worrying sidekick in "Gunsmoke." After he quit the show, he went through a difficult period attempting to shake himself of the Chester identity.

"It was natural to be identified that strongly," he said. "The character was extremely visual, which puts the actor into a pigeon-hole—particularly since Chester has stayed in view on 'Gunsmoke' reruns.

After that he made a couple of pilots, neither of which worked out, a short-lived series called "Kentucky Jones," and since then has been busy in motion pictures.

In "Gentle Ben," shot in Florida, Weaver plays a game warden and father of an 8-year-old boy with a pet bear. Ben is an American bear who was raised as a pet by a family in Minnesota and is as tame—and gentle—as the ordinary family dog, Weaver says. However, he is handled by five trainers, three of them on the set with him at all times.

"He's friendly with everyone," said Weaver, "everyone who will feed him, that is. Bears are omnivorous, so it doesn't matter whether it's honey, crackers, doughnuts, just as long as it's food."

The actor observed that the usual format for such a show is merely a convenient frame in which to place the animals.

"Our format is to tell a story, and use the animal to enhance it—both as a pet animal, not something human under a furry exterior. I don't think that is really necessary and just detracts from the believability," he said.

"And if you aren't faced with the necessity of having the animal wrap up everything neatly at the end, the base of the series can be much broader."

Although "Gentle Ben" is aimed at young audiences, Weaver thinks that adults may find it interesting.

"It's the opposite of 'Gunsmoke,'" he said. "That was made for adults—it was on in the late evening—but it had a big following of kids and they really dug it."

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

GUTSY TEEN BREAKS ARM. ROLLS "TEN STRIKE": 108 of 1967's high school graduate finalists from 37 states knocked pins all over the alleys in the nation's capital, competing in the All-America Youth Bowling Championships just ended. Three national champions (all 17 or 18) were crowned: Les Richmond of Elmira, N. Y. swept the Boys Scratch Division with an average of 194; George Sempole Jr. of Warren, Mich., dished this in the Boys Handicap Division, hitting a new meet record with an average of 173; and Virginia Simons of Excelsior, Minn., whose pretty nose just nosed out the runner-up, Vicki Mullihan of Collins, Iowa, in the final game, chalked up a 171 average. But all this was tame stuff for the echoing galleries compared to Chuck Maglaughlin, Boardman, Ohio, who broke through as unofficial top champ of the entire championships... Did this by howling a mere 147.5—after having taught himself to slam that ball down the alley southpaw in only three weeks time. Why? Because Chuck first copped the state finals with a 207 average (highest ever of any entrant), then, 21 days before departure for the Washington tournament, fractured his right regular bowling arm—smacked by a pitched ball in the state baseball championships... Two days later he was at the lanes, learning to bowl lefty. So Chuck showed up at D. C. arm in cast (match, everybody signed, and he's saving it as a souvenir)... and heaved that ball with his left hand. Result—a special award of one of the tournament's $1,000 college scholarships. Five foot 11, 175-pound, brown-haired Chuck, who's the son of a steelworker, told YOUTH BEAT: Most important element in bowling achievement is confidence (he should know); that he went to the championships, hoping to help his education, but just as much to meet other guys and gals ("kids turn out to be pretty much the same from all over the country"). Big elation is that he made a lot of new friends, including pen pals—but can't figure out how to keep up with them, because he hasn't learned how to write with his left hand... yet.

BIG SWITCH COMING—WEATHER: Summer peak of hot weather is past... but you don't need to be told that you have weather on your neck the year round... get ready for this time of year's big changes. Research shows extremes of weather affect youth less than children and older-agers, but they do affect you—and variously. Studies run recently among students reveal one amazing fact—you adjust to changes in climate. Dixie guys and gals stand heat so well they often perform physical tasks on 80-90 degree days with a third to one-half the strain of Northerners. Dramatic example of adjustment was startling experimental adaptation to cold... Students exposed to sleeping clothesless at 32 degrees, in a week could tolerate it, in a month were completely comfortable. Whether you're hot now or cold later, you're warned that weather can do things like this: Electric changes during thunder storms slow driver reaction time, increase traffic accident rate; fog depresses you, makes you less efficient; finally, (and we might expect this) guys are more sensitive to weather effects than gals. Reason—the feminine sex is smaller, less surface area to expose to the elements, and their thicker layer of fatty tissue protects them.

Dear Helen: Please print this to show people Hells Angels aren't all bad. Sure when they come to a town they raise some static, but how would you feel if the whole town closed up to you. With the police on your neck every minute and people giving you hard looks, you'd want to tear things up, too.

Maybe one out of four Hells Angels get into bad trouble. The others are just out for kicks and don't do anything that hasn't been done before. I'm sick of people who put others down when they don't really know.

I am a 17-year-old girl who has ridden with the Angels many times. In fact I went with one of them. He was a real groovy man and he knew how to live. But what did life ever give him except death on the highway?

After him, I couldn't be anything else but a FRIEND OF HELLS ANGELS.

Dear Friend: ...Until life also hands you death on the highway?

Sorry, I don't buy your story. I've seen the Angels in action!—H.

Dear Helen: Three years ago I was a shy, fat, studious girl with almost no friends. I'm not complaining about my life then. I just wish I were still that way. When I was 16 I started hanging around with a wild girl. She got me to drinking and smoking. My grades dropped from A's and B's, to D's and F's. I played hooky for three months because I didn't care any more and the gang I ran with was doing it. I got such a reputation only drop-outs would go with me, but I thought I was having a ball. Then I really fell for a guy and we ran away, lied about our ages and got married. The first few months it was fun. We hid out. We slept in old cars, stole

Except The LORD Build The HOUSE They Labor In Vain That Build It

HAVE

shall receive his own reward, according to his own labour; for we are labourers together with God." Those lines from Corinthians, might well be the inspiration for the holiday America observes ... a special day set aside to pay respect to those who labor to make our nation great and, consequently, keep it free. This is Labor Day ... when each man and woman whose work helps keep the bulwark of Democracy strong, receives "his own reward" in the satisfaction of a job well done. It is not just another day for looking back on past accomplishment — this Labor Day. In a strange new scientific world which taxes comprehension, it is a time for looking ahead ... for rededicating ourselves. We must need those Corinthian lines which ask us all to be "labourers together with God."

Too often we are inclined to think that anybody who spends a dollar for advertising does it from a purely selfish standpoint. But here, public - spirited, God - worshipping people, are paying each week to insert in this paper a full page, from which they will draw no quick response nor prompt sale. These people are good and humble business men — We owe them our gratitude.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

The Rivet in Grandfather's Tooth
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The heading on this column is an obvious steal from the delightful book by James Branch Cabell entitled "The Rivet in Grandfather's Neck." It was hard to resist placing it on a column describing use of rivets in teeth.

In the olden days . . . treatment for broken teeth was apt to be neat and simple: "Out! Damned tooth! Out!" Of course restoring broken teeth was (and is) often successfully done with crowns or large gold inlays. But their use was severely limited because techniques were complicated and time-consuming, requiring two sittings or more and the process was expensive. Extracting a tooth cost about $5 but crowning it might cost 15 to 20 times that much.

Many people asked why silver amalgam couldn't be used. The answer is simple: The part of the tooth that broke was the part needed to hold the amalgam in place. Fractured teeth don't usually have enough remaining tooth structure in which to anchor fillings.

Use of rivets has changed all this. Now badly broken-down or fractured teeth can be restored with regular dental filling materials (silver, porcelain and plastic) held in place by tiny steel pins that are riveted into the base of the tooth.

It's painless. It's gloriously simple. It takes little extra time and works beautifully. Grandfather B. broke off

District 4AA Victory For Local Team

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sportswriter

Opening the '67 season in fine fashion, the Hope Bobcats tasted complete victory, overwhelming the Arkadelphia Badgers 19-0 last night in Arkadelphia.

Jumping to a 6-0 lead after less than a minute of play, the Bobcats never even gave the Badgers a chance. And for the third straight year the Cats shut out Arkadelphia with a fine defensive performance when things could have looked bad. The fact that the whole 35-man squad saw nearly equal action throughout the game shows on the score, as the second half went scoreless.

On a good football night, the Bobcats won the toss and chose to receive. Jerry McWilliams took the opening kickoff at his 15 and squirmed out to the 34 before he was brought down. From there, Hope showed 'em quick how the game would run. McWilliams turned the corner on the first scrimmage play and shot to midfield for 16 yards. Then Buzz Andrews rolled out, hit the sideline, and was gone 50 yards for the TD. Ronny Brown's PAT was wide, and Hope led 6-0 with 10:59 remaining in the first quarter.

The Bobcats defensive unit, or the Headhunters, as they are called, then rose to the occasion to push the Badgers back, and the Lynch's punt carried only to the 13. Arkadelphia 4, where Jerry Sanders grabbed it and stepped to the 36, where the Cats took over for the second time. But a missed assignment caused a first-down fumble, which the Badgers gladly sat on. Then the ball flew from Badger Mark Estes' hands on first down, and Jerry Sanders recovered for Hope at the Arkadelphia 38, to give the Cats another chance from that same 38 yard line.

No time wasted on this go-round, as Kenny Koen broke immediately for the 38 remaining yards to paydirt. Brown's kick was good, and with 7:42 still left in the opening period the scoreboard read: Hope 13, Arkadelphia 0.

After the kickoff a successful double reverse was nullified by a clipping penalty, and the Badgers were being forced into mistakes by the bigger, more experienced Bobcats, whose pregame jitters were long forgotten, though execution problems persisted with the offensive unit.

The second string Headhunters kept pushing the Badgers back, but penalties were a pain in the neck for the Bobcats all night. Frequently, 10-yard losses against Arkadelphia would be followed by costly Bobcat penalties, but the defense looked like the Green Bay Packers once the opponent moved inside the Bobcat 30-yard line. From there on in, every inch was hard work. Don't worry about Coach Ronnie Higgins' defense, it can take care of itself.

Late in the first stanza the Badgers appeared to be moving, but they fumbled the snap on fourth down and the Bobcats sent in more offensive reserves with first and ten at the Arkadelphia 43. The Badger defense never had much problem with the second-leaders, except for a Massanello-East aerial that covered 28 yards. After the pass came penalties, though, and then Ken Swalm picked off a Massanello pass and sprinted out to his 37 yard line. The first quarter ended shortly after, and the score was: Hope 13, Arkadelphia 0.

Using a variety of plays from their bag of tricks, the Badgers still could do nothing but hold the ball, as they ran 45 plays to the Cats' 37. Early in the second period the locals seemed to be moving, but one of many Hope fumbles foiled that opportunity inside Arkadelphia territory. Halfway through the second chapter Hope took a punt at their own 18. On that play tackle Carroll Beck was injured, to what extent will be discussed in this column on Monday.

Koen carried to the 25, and a Badger personal foul gave Hope a first down at the 40. Koen then broke once again to the 49 for nine yards, as the Cats were really rolling. Andrews moved outside, saw daylight, and flew to the Arkadelphia 34 for another first down. Buzz deceived the Badger front line this time, faking to Jerry Still and finding Jerry Sanders between three defenders at the ten. The pass found its mark, and Sanders cut left easily for the touchdown. Ronny Brown's point after just went wide left, and with 5:40 left in the half Hope led 19-0. Badger Tommy Leath nearly broke on the ensuing kickoff, but was caught at his own 43. No one could threaten before the half, as each team suffered interceptions. And at the end of the first half the score read: Hope 13, Arkadelphia 0.

Penalties, punts, interceptions and fumbles tell the story of the second half, with neither team able to score. Mostly it was an even match between the Arkadelphia regulars and the Hope substitutes. The end of the game found the Badgers unable to cash in with four downs from the Hope 2 yard line, after jumping on another Bobcat fumble. Final score: Hope 13, Arkadelphia 0.

Leading rushers for the Bobcats were Buzz Andrews with 10-125 and Kenny Koen, who had 4 carries for around 60 yards. Mark Estes led all Badgers with 5-17 yards. Hope's Jerry Sanders also caught 2 passes for 47 yards and a TD. Individual performances on offense and defense will be singled out in the coaches' comments on Monday, along with an injury report.

Chiefs Still Considered Best in AFL

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Earlier this summer Hank Stram said the most pressing question mark facing his Kansas City Chiefs was place kicking.

Elther Hank had his tongue in his cheek or his eyes closed.

For the only question Jan Stenerud might present is how far back he can go before he misses on a field goal try.

Stenerud is a rookie from Norway by way of Montana State who is replacing Mike Mercer, the best kicker in the American Football League last season. He booted a 59-yard field goal in college and threatens to kick some long ones, if not quite that long, for the Chiefs.

But if Stram, at the time he made the statement, really felt that was the Chiefs' most pressing problem, it showed how well off Kansas City is compared with all the other teams in the league which were, and still are, worrying about quarterbacks, tackles, linebackers, corner backs and anything else you care to name.

The Chiefs' prestige was slightly tarnished in their 35-10 Super Bowl loss to Green Bay last January, but their reputation as by far the best team in the AFL still stands.

They've proved it already by crushing Oakland, their No. 1 rival in the Western Division, 48-0 and then trouncing the Chicago Bears of the National League 66-24, both within five days in exhibition play.

Preseason games might not have much importance, but it is fair to say the outcome of those contests was significant.

"I think we're better now than we were a year ago," Stram said, offering an ominous note to the other AFL teams. "We've had more quality competition this year than ever before."

What he means is the Chiefs have greater depth than before, and adding depth to the Chiefs is like giving an octopus another arm.

Under some of the Government's proliferate programs, it is possible for a company to get a Government grant for training people the company needs in its own business.

The Rockwell-Standard Corp. (based in Pittsburgh) worked out an arrangement with a Government agency to recruit and train workmen for a new axle plant in Winchester, Ky. From the local area, the company planned to hire 198 men, all unemployed.

In due time, the company got a check from the Government for $52,987 as reimbursement for what it spent on the training program. W. F. Rockwell Jr., company president, turned down the check as a "sheer waste of the taxpayers' money."

To us, Rockwell's action suggests two points: One, that he didn't want taxpayer money for doing something that the company was prepared to do on its own, and needed to do. In this and many other programs run by the Government, individuals and companies take handouts they really don't deserve but accept because the money is there to be taken.

Rockwell said, logically, that perhaps this type of Federal subsidy more properly could go to small companies which couldn't afford an extensive training program but nevertheless could provide employment for men currently idle for lack of training.

The second point is that this type of training, whether done by private enterprise or the Government, probably is the most useful way of all to combat unemployment. The best friend a feller can have is the friend (businessman or Government) who best can help him himself. —Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel

Tax Ruling On Charity Deductions

The Internal Revenue Service says that a need for guidelines in tax deductions for charitable contributions has arisen because of frequent misunderstandings and an increasing incidence of illegal claims for such deductions.

To be deductible as a charitable contribution, a payment to or for use of a qualified charitable organization must be a gift, according to the IRS weekly bulletin of revenue rulings. As a general rule, it says a payment to buy an item of value cannot be deducted for income tax purposes. This applies to purchases of tickets to charity balls or other fund-raising affairs.

The public has been advised erroneously in some cases, in advertising and soliciting by sponsors of events, that the entire amounts paid for tickets are deductible. Where the amount paid is the same as the standard admission charge for an event, IRS has ruled it cannot be deducted for income tax purposes regardless of the intent of the parties.

If a person wants to support a charity event but does not intend to use the ticket, he can make an outright gift without accepting the ticket or any other consideration and his donation can be deducted, under the IRS ruling. As an example, of the general principle involved, IRS says if $30 is solicited for seats to a charity concert and the regular admission price is $10, only the extra gift represents a tax deductible gift.

Tickets for raffles, lotteries or similar drawings sponsored by charitable organizations are not deductible. All this seems rather complicated—but so is the entire income tax system, if you ask us. —Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger.

QUICK RETURN to the United States is possible for wounded troops in Vietnam, without even leaving their beds in the buslike ambulance. The entire ambulance is backed into Air Force C-141 StarLifters after the giant cargo planes have disgorged supplies flown over from the States. The procedure allows the military to fly cargo and troops from America to Southeast Asia in less than a day's time, and rush wounded to modern hospitals on the east and west coasts in a similar amount of time on the return trip.

MOON HOUSE could serve as an inflatable home base for two astronauts on the moon's surface for periods up to two weeks. Moonmen could work inside in shirtsleeves, as shown at right, once they have passed through an airlock, left. The structure is 13 feet long and seven feet in diameter, built under a NASA contract by Goodyear Aerospace Corporation.

Here's Some Helpful Pointers If You Are Going to Visit Hawaii

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

Notes from the "Maul-Go-Round" section of "The Maui News," a guide for valley isle vacationers on Maui in the state of Hawaii...

In Hawaii, if you're "poho" (poh-hoh), you're "out of luck." It is an expressive little two-syllable word used in a humorous fashion to mean "sunk."

And like so many Hawaiian words, the accent is uniform on both syllables. If the cards were against you in a friendly penny-ante session, you might remark that you're poho two dollars. Following this line of thought, one of Hawaii's many story-tellers gives us a traveling man's story with Hawaiian atmosphere.

This man and a friend in the early days stopped during a storm at a tiny Hawaiian home where the hospitable invitation had been, "Hele mai e ai!" — "Come in and eat."

The storm continued and the Hawaiian insisted that the men must stay the night, and even though they gladly accepted, they wondered vaguely where they would sleep, for there was only one old-fashioned bed in a corner of the one-room shack.

In addition to papa and mama there were about 12 kids. Now, "Hiamoe" in Hawaiian is "to sleep," "pune" is a small bed and "likie" is a large bed, really more of a platform where six or eight may sleep in a row. But this tiny cabin was too small for such broad comforts.

The friends were soon treated to a ringside view of how to handle an overflowing family in one double bed. As the old folks and their guests talked, smoked and sang, the youngest, when they began to nod, were placed in the bed. But when the children were sound asleep, they were carefully lifted out again and deposited on the floor in the corner.

Finally all the children had reached the corner via the bed, and the visitors insisted that they, too, lie down on the floor with the children, but the old couple insisted that wouldn't be polite; no, the guests must take the bed; the family, young and old, would take the floor in the corner.

Too tired to argue the visitors undressed and were soon dead to the world in the big bed, but when they woke in the morning the old traveling men were "poho" for they, too, were on the floor with the children!

U.S. Protests Soviet Arctic Strait Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, possibly fearing the United States seeks to spy on a major Soviet nuclear test site, has touched off a diplomatic battle by banning passage of two American icebreakers through an Arctic strait.

The Soviet action drew a strong U.S. protest Thursday. But Washington canceled the planned Arctic excursion while claiming the Soviet blockade violated international sea law.

A State Department spokesman said the icebreakers Edisto and East Wind, ostensibly on the first leg of a scientific mission to circle the Arctic, were denied Soviet permission to pass through Vilkitsky Straits.

The ships originally had not planned to travel through the straits, said State Department press officer Carl Bartch, but were forced to seek an alternate route when blocked by massive ice jams. The area involved is within 500 miles of the North Pole.

Bartch told newsmen the U.S. Embassy in Moscow notified the Soviets Aug. 24 of the planned change in course. He said the Soviet Foreign Ministry said then and again Aug. 28 that passage of the ships through the straits would be considered a violation of Soviet frontiers.

Observers noted that one of the islands in the area is Novaya Zemlya, a major Soviet atomic test site.

The issue is similar to that raised by Egypt's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, an incident that triggered the Israeli-Arab war.

The United States maintained that the Soviets disagreed — that the ships have the right of innocent passage through straits linking high seas, even when the connecting channel is through national waters.

No Wreaths for Statues

NEW YORK (AP) — The wreath was an expensive job, done in 10 colors with the word "Henry" on the ribbon. It was ordered for a museum statue.

"We are completely mystified—I think it's a riot," said a spokesman for the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The florist who made up the wreath said the man who ordered it did not leave his name but directed that it be delivered "to the foot of the great Roman statue in the south end of the Great Hall."

Museum guards turned aside the delivery boy when he arrived with the wreath Thursday morning.

Explained the spokesman: "It's standard procedure. Our statues do not accept funeral wreaths."

Foundation to Handle Prison Blood

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A private, nonprofit foundation was formed Thursday to assume the operation of the blood plasma program at Cummins Prison Farm.

The organization, named the Medcor Foundation, will use half the profits to improve medical care of inmates and the rest will be applied to the costs of the program and underwriting some services that will be provided by the University of Arkansas Medical Center.

The foundation voted to accept the bid of Cutter Laboratories to buy the plasma output. Cutter submitted a bid of $18.50 per liter, $3 per liter more than the only other bidder, Baxter Laboratories.

The plasma program has been operated by S&W, Inc., a firm headed by Dr. Austin R. Slough of Montgomery, Ala., who was reported to have been making a $300-a-day profit.

About half the prisoners at Cummins participate in the program. They are paid $5 at each weekly donation of plasma.

Dr. Howard Quittner, director of clinical laboratories and the Medical Center blood bank, was elected co-chairman of the foundation in charge of medical aspects of the program.

John Haley, a member of the state Penitentiary Board, was elected chairman in charge of administration.

Missing Child Took It Calmly

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney took six of his grandchildren to the state fair Thursday—and then there were only five.

Toward the end of his fair visit, the governor stopped to pose for photographers with his daughters' children.

He counted heads: "one, two, three, four, five..."

A frantic search turned up Billy Keenan, 4, some 25 minutes later. Billy, clutching a balloon tightly, was wandering calmly by the dairy barn.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Keenan of suburban Birmingham. She is the former Lynn Romney.

Sept. 21 Is Deadline for ASC Vote

Farmers today got a last-minute reminder about important upcoming elections of ASC farmer-committeemen who will serve for the next year as local administrators of national farm-action programs.

According to R. B. Arnold, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, eligible voters of Hempstead County will cast ballots for community committeemen by mail. All ballots must be marked and returned to the Hempstead ASCS County Office or post marked not later than September 21, 1967.

Qualified voters in the election are all farmers who are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committee administer. Lists of eligible voters in each community are available for public inspection in the ASCS county office.

The community committee the farmers elect from among their own number consists of a chairman, a vice chairman, and a third regular member, as well as two alternates. The regular members of the committee also serve as delegates — and the alternates as alternate delegates — to a county convention, where farmers will be elected to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee.

The Chairman stressed the importance of electing representative farmers as committee men in view of their broad program responsibilities. Programs administered by the committee include the Agricultural Conservation program, the Cropland Adjustment Program, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, the upland cotton diversion program, the Sugar Act program, the National Wool program, and farm storage facility loans. Other duties are assigned to the committees by the Secretary of Agriculture as the need arises.

Last year, 625 farmers — 50 percent of all the farmers in the county — took part in one or more programs administered by the ASC committees. Funds disbursed under the committee's supervision amounted to $235,000 including $23,000 for price-support loans to increase market returns above what farmers would receive on an unsupported market, $40,000 in price-support payments and $74,669 in diversion payments under commodity programs, and $75,000 as the Government's share of the cost of conserving local farmland resources under the Agricultural Conservation Program.

Chairman Arnold urged all qualified voters to be sure to cast their ballots. Eligibility to vote or hold office as a committee-man is not restricted by reason of race, color, creed, or national origin.

Lock and Dam Work Advanced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A contract for remedial drainage work in connection with construction of Lock and Dam No. 5, including installation of culverts in a levee and enlargement of 1,500 feet of channel on the Upper Plum Bayou where it empties into the Arkansas River in Jefferson County, apparently will be awarded to the Carter Construction Co., of Benton, which submitted an apparent low bid of $110,252, the Army Engineers announced.

Union Pushes For Contract With Ford

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Bargaining for an automotive labor agreement went into the stretch today as the United Auto Workers union pushed towards a contract with the Ford Motor Co. that could be used as a pattern in the rest of the industry.

Less than five days remain before current three-year pacts covering some 650,000 workers at the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—expire at Wednesday midnight.

Negotiations at Ford resume at 10 a.m. and at GM and Chrysler an hour later.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, led his bargainers into the union's target, Ford, at 9 p.m. Friday, but the session ended two hours later with both sides reporting little progress.

Reuther said, when he announced Ford as the target, that if no contract is reached by the deadline the UAW will strike all Ford plants.

Ford employs some 160,000 UAW members at its 45 manufacturing plants, 17 assembly plants and 39 parts depots in 27 states.

Among the top items on what the union calls its "longest and most ambitious list of demands" are a substantial pay boost, some form of guaranteed annual income and equal pay for American and Canadian workers.

Swede Drivers Going From Left to Right

By DICK SODERLUND
STOCKHOLM (AP) — Silence will fall over the streets of this Swedish capital Saturday as motor traffic comes to a halt to herald H-Day.

That is Sunday, when the nation of eight million drops its left-hand traffic system and switches to the right. The "H" is for the Swedish word hoeger, meaning right.

The ban on traffic will last longest in Stockholm, extending from 10 a.m. Saturday to 3 p.m. Sunday. Goeteborg and two other cities will have somewhat shorter bans. In the rest of the country, it lasts five hours, 1-6 a.m. Sunday. During these periods only emergency or specially approved vehicles may move.

Sweden is the last country on the European mainland to make the change to right-hand driving for its 60,000 miles of highways and streets.

Thousands of policemen, road workers, soldiers, school children and voluntary workers have had the job of making every person aware of the change and helping him through the ordeal.

"No one living or staying in this country will get a chance to escape the fact that Sweden goes right—not even a prison escapee on the run, I should think," promises the "H general," Lars Skold.

Skold, 44, heads the 50-member Right-hand Traffic Commission, which has put four years of work into preparations for this shift by a highly industrialized country that has one car for every four persons — the highest rate in Europe.

During the general ban on driving, thousands of new road signs, shrouded in black or hidden by peel-off covers, will be unveiled. At 4:50 a.m. Sunday even vehicles with special permits will have to stop. Then, at 5 a.m., they will move over to the right side of the road and keep going to the right at reduced speeds with their headlights on.

Polls and research indicate that pedestrians, particularly women and the elderly, are likely to be a major headache because by habit they will tend to look the wrong way when stepping into streets, Americans who have visited England know of this hazard.

A climbing traffic accident rate, plus the troubles caused when Swedes drive into neighboring countries or foreigners visit Sweden, led Swedish legislators to vote the change in May 1963.

Tax Collections Show Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — August tax collections totaled $26,060,718, compared to $25,531,005 during the same month last year, the state Revenue Department reported Thursday.

The department said general revenue collections totaled $15,196,756, compared to $14,775,591 during August 1966, and that sales tax collections totaled $7,059,108, compared to $7,048,514 last year.

State Trooper of the Year Is Selected

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — James Edward Danley of Paragould was selected today as the 1967 "trooper of the year" by the State Police Commission for his disarming a fugitive who held off other officers at gun point.

State Police reports show that Danley, 34, approached Frank Meier from behind while Meier held the other officers at bay June 26.

Danley raced from building to building behind Meier and then sprinted across an open area to grab him and take away a rifle and pistol, records showed. Danley suffered a broken nose during the ensuing scuffle.

Meier will go on trial for first-degree murder in December in the shooting of Holt Marshall of Center Hill, who was killed while driving a tractor in a pasture near Meier's home.

The Arkansas Petroleum Council, sponsors of the award, will make a formal presentation at the 33rd annual Oilmen's Convention in Hot Springs Nov. 10.

Three other troopers were selected as nominees for the third annual award. They were Freddie Roberts of Pine Bluff, Harry Troutman of Little Rock and Ross Valentine of Van Buren.

Prosperity Backfires on Wall Street

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Prosperity has exploded in Wall Street's face.

So much stock is being bought and sold by affluent individuals and institutions that the brokerage firms have been unable to keep up with the paperwork involved in the flood of transactions.

As a result, the New York and American stock exchanges and several regional exchanges shortened their daily trading periods by 90 minutes for nine days last month to give brokers' clerical staffs more time for their chores.

The American appetite for investing money in corporation stocks has reached tremendous proportions in recent years.

In the first half of this year, 1,234,398,860 shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange—a daily average of 9.8 million. This compared to the 1,039,045,404 shares traded in the 1966 first half for a daily average of 8.2 million.

Trading also has rocketed upward on the American Stock Exchange, regional exchanges and the over-the-counter market.

Back in 1926, volume on the New York exchange was 601 million shares for the year. By 1966 it had ballooned to 2,205,700,000.

The trading pace has more than doubled since 1959, when the total was 1,039,000,000 shares and the daily average 3.2 million.

Since 1952, the U.S. stockholder population has increased from 6 million to 22 million. These investors were part owners of nearly 7,000 companies.

Guerrillas In Election Eve Attacks

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas made election eve attacks throughout South Vietnam today, including an attempted terror raid into the province capital of Tam Ky where a terrorist carrying 20 pounds of TNT was shot down.

Most of the attacks were small but the over-all death toll mounted sharply.

U.S. sources said 190 civilians have been killed by terrorists in the past week, 426 have been wounded and 237 kidnapped.

The regular war stayed quiet. Most of South Vietnam's servicemen and many Americans were assigned to protect the voters.

The attack on Tam Ky, capital of Quang Tin Province in the politically sensitive northern war zone which has been the main target of pre-election terrorism, was thrown back with four South Vietnamese killed and six wounded. Simultaneously the Communists mortared a military dependents camp on the outskirts of the town, wounding two people there.

Tam Ky was the fifth provincial capital hit this week by Red rains.

The guerrillas attempted to get into the town about 2 a.m. and sporadic fighting broke out in the almost deserted streets as they were spotted.

Declares Poor Folks Really Want to Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders says he's found "a real desire to work on the part of poor people" in two riot-hit cities he visited.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., talking with newsmen Thursday after returning from commission inspections in Milwaukee and Cincinnati, said the "need around the country is for jobs whether the person is black or white."

At the same time, leaders of the 420,000-member AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America announced a nationwide campaign to get one million signatures on a petition urging Congress to provide jobs, housing and education for the poor.

Union President Joseph A. Byrne told a news conference Congress' only reaction to this summer's riots is a so-called riot-control bill.

Saying the union membership was dismayed by House rejection of a proposed rat control program, Byrne added: "We want to impress on Congress that this takes massive work on their part."

Harris said his talks with residents and city officials in riot-ridden cities produced few claims that the uprisings were started by outside agitators or spawned by black nationalist groups.

Confusion at Expo 67

MONTREAL (AP) — The Expo Express system was thrown out of commission for 25 minutes, provoking anger, pushing and shoving among the heavy crowds at Expo's four stations.

An Expo spokesman said the trouble began Thursday night when a woman panicked after boarding one of the eight Expo trains. Her child had been left on the platform as the train pulled out.

Someone yanked the emergency cord to stop the train so the woman could retrieve her child. Then three youths pulled the emergency cord again when the train restarted. They were arrested.
